JABARI GREER & BEN HARTSOCK EARN U.K. TV STUDIO ANALYST POSTS FOR 2015 NFL REGULAR-SEASON SUNDAY

Former NFL players JABARI GREER and BEN HARTSOCK who participated in the 2015 NFL BOOT CAMP: BROADCASTING will spend one regular-season Sunday working on-air for one of the league's United Kingdom television partners.

The announcement was made at the conclusion of the NFL Boot Camp: Broadcasting in Mt. Laurel, NJ, where Greer and Hartsock, both 10-year veterans, and 21 other players spent four days learning from talent, producers and executives from each of the NFL's broadcast partners. The dates of the assignments will be determined closer to the kickoff of the 2015 NFL season.

Last season former NFL players JE' ROD CHERY and EVAN MOORE were selected to serve as studio analysts for an NFL regular-season Sunday on Sky Sports in the U.K.

NFL Boot Camp: Broadcasting is a four-day program directed by the NFL Player Engagement and NFL Broadcasting departments. The program covers a wide range of topics with on-air and production instructors from each of the NFL's broadcast partners – CBS, FOX, NBC, ESPN, NFL Network, Big Ten Network, SiriusXM, and Westwood One Radio. Sessions include hands-on work in areas such as tape study, editing, show preparation, radio production, studio preparation, production meetings, field reporting and game preparation.

Of the 188 players who took part in NFL Boot Camp: Broadcasting from 2007-2014, more than one-third have earned broadcasting jobs as a result of their participation in the program.
